TAM International Opens New Office in China
TAM to Service the Regional Increase in Drilling Activity

HOUSTON – Dec. 19, 2011 – TAM International, Inc., an independent oilfield services company providing inflatable and swellable packers, opened a new office in Shenzhen, China. The office will support the demand in deep well cement integrity and shale fracturing.

“Due to an upturn in offshore drilling activity in the South China Sea, TAM saw an increased need to service the industry particularly with TAM’s one-trip Multi-Stage Hydraulic Fracture System, PosiFrac™,” said Keith Rae, TAM International Regional Manager North Asia. “Both new and existing clients in the area will be supported through the office.”

The products and services that TAM provides are designed for drilling and completions applications where a customer needs to enhance the isolation of any zone.

“The majority of the drilling offshore operations in the South China Sea will take place in Shekou,” Rae said. “Due to this, TAM has strategically opened their new office in the Shekou, Shenzhen Province.”
